

Child Welfare Agency Spending in Mississippi in SFY 2024

Child welfare agencies across the United States are charged with protecting and promoting the welfare of children and youth who are at risk of, or have been victims of, maltreatment. State and local child welfare agencies rely on multiple funding streams to administer programs and services. While many funding sources are available to child welfare agencies, each source has its unique purposes, eligibility requirements, and limitations, creating a complex financing structure that is challenging to understand and administer. Each state's unique funding composition impacts the services available to children and families and the way in which child welfare agencies operate.

This document presents information on child welfare agency expenditures in Mississippi for SFY 2024¹ collected through Child Trends' national survey of child welfare agency expenditures. All dollar amounts have been inflated to 2024 levels.

- Social Services Block Grant
- Medicaid
- Other federal funds
- State and local funds

Children With Child Welfare Agency Contact

Since SFY 2022, the number of children in Mississippi who received an investigation or alternative response² has decreased while the number served in foster care³ has increased.

Total Expenditures

Mississippi's total child welfare agency spending⁴ increased from SFY 2014 to 2024.

Note: N/A indicates a comparison could not be made because comparable data are not available.

Mississippi Insights

Prior to SFY 2024, Mississippi's child welfare agency was part of the Mississippi Department of Human Services. In SFY 2024, the child welfare agency became its own entity: the Mississippi Department of Child Protection Services (MDCPS). The state indicated that MDCPS is working to expand successful programs and implement new programs, including those focused on preventing children from entering foster care. The state also shared that the restructuring has allowed it to increase its focus on key areas, such as providing child-centered and evidence-based services.

2024 Mississippi Expenditures

Federal Expenditures

Title IV-E

Total in SFY 2024: $79,141,380

Change from SFY 2022: 3%

Title IV-E of the Social Security Act⁶ can be used for foster care, adoption, guardianship, prevention, kinship navigation, and supports for transition-age youth (Chafee and Education and Training Vouchers). Mississippi's Title IV-E Prevention Plan was approved in 2025.⁷

Mississippi Insights

Mississippi indicated that it expects an increase in Title IV-E expenditures in the future due to the implementation of extended foster care and the Family First Prevention Services Act.

Among these services and activities, in SFY 2024, foster care expenditures increased, while adoption, Chafee/ETV and kinship navigator expenditures decreased compared to SFY 2022.

Title IV-E	2020	2022	2024
Foster Care Program	$24,689,684	$35,818,350	$39,358,242
Adoption Assistance Program	$24,934,588	$38,339,738	$37,997,860
Guardianship Assistance Program	$0	$0	$0
Chafee Program and ETVs	$2,015,025	$1,918,835	$1,785,278
Waiver	$0	N/A	N/A

Title IV-E	2020	2022	2024
Prevention Program	$0	$0	$0
Kinship Navigator Program	$100,837	$521,908	$0
Funding Certainty Grants	$0	$0	$0

Note: N/A means the program did not exist in that year.

Mississippi Insights

Mississippi indicated that it experienced large increases in adoption board payments, which increased its Title IV-E adoption assistance payments. At the same time, the state corrected how it calculated federal reimbursement for adoption administrative costs. The net effect was an overall decrease in Title IV-E adoption program expenditures.

Title IV-B

Total in SFY 2024: $9,314,500

Change from SFY 2022: 170%

Title IV-B⁸ of the Social Security Act can be used for child welfare services, such as preventing maltreatment, family preservation, family reunification, services for foster and adopted children, and training for child welfare professionals. The funds reported on the survey are only those spent by child welfare agencies.

Mississippi Insights

Title IV-B expenditures can fluctuate because Title IV-B allocations for a given year may be spent that year and the subsequent year; however, they can also be spent in a shorter period. Mississippi indicated that its Title IV-B expenditures increased in SFY 2024 because the child welfare agency took advantage of this flexibility, allowing the agency to address spending levels as it became an independent agency that year.

Medicaid

Total in SFY 2024: $0

Change from SFY 2022: 0%

Medicaid⁹ covers health-related services for millions of low-income individuals. Children eligible for Title IV-E foster care, adoption, or guardianship programs are automatically eligible for Medicaid. Child welfare agencies use Medicaid for treatment portions of child welfare programs, targeted case management, and services for children in treatment or therapeutic foster homes. Note: The amount reported here captures only Medicaid expenditures by child welfare agencies; it does not reflect the state's total Medicaid spending. This means that the Medicaid expenditures reported on this survey do not reflect the total amount of Medicaid funding used to support children involved with the child welfare system. Instead, the expenditures reported on this survey are only those Medicaid dollars that child welfare agencies use directly.

Mississippi Insights

Mississippi indicated that the child welfare agency is in the process of building a working relationship with the Mississippi Division of Medicaid to help cover Medicaid-eligible expenditures for children in care, and to cover administrative indirect costs.

Social Services Block Grant

Total in SFY 2024: $0

Change from SFY 2022: 0%

The Social Services Block Grant (SSBG) is a flexible source of federal funds that child welfare agencies can use to promote self-sufficiency, prevent or remedy child maltreatment, reduce inappropriate use of institutional care, and more.¹⁰

Mississippi Insights

Mississippi indicated that SSBG funds are no longer used by the child welfare agency. Instead, SSBG funds remain with the Mississippi Department of Human Services (the department to which the newly independent child welfare agency used to belong).

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families

Total in SFY 2024: $22,131,319

Change from SFY 2022: 7%

In addition to providing cash assistance to low-income families, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) can also be used to support a variety of child welfare activities. TANF allows states to be flexible in using funding to support children involved in the child welfare system.

Mississippi Insights

Mississippi indicated that its child welfare agency is using TANF funds to expand eligible services to children and families in the state, including through the expansion of current programs and the establishment of newer programs.

Other Federal Funds

Total in SFY 2024: $18,676,809

Change from SFY 2022: 471%

In addition to the major federal sources, child welfare agencies use other federal funding streams, including:

Other Federal Funds	SFY 2024 expenditures	Percent of total
Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act (CAPTA) ¹¹	$1,412,082	8%
Community-Based Child Abuse Prevention (CBCAP) grants ¹²	$737,395	4%
Children's Justice Act ¹³	$0	0%
Adoption Opportunities ¹⁴	$0	0%
Adoption and Legal Guardianship Incentive Payments ¹⁵	$2,257,000	12%
Maternal, Infant, and Early Childhood Home Visiting ¹⁶	$0	0%
Family First Transition Act grants ¹⁷	$0	0%
Coronavirus State and Local Fiscal Recovery Funds (ARPA) ¹⁸	$14,270,332	76%
Other	$0	0%

Mississippi Insights

Mississippi's expenditures of other federal funds increased because of increased expenditures of ARPA funds. Mississippi indicated that it expects a sharp future decline in the expenditure of other federal funds due to the expiration of pandemic-relief funding.

State and Local Expenditures

State and local funds are used to meet non-federal cost-sharing requirements (“match”) for some federal sources, to meet a maintenance of effort requirement for a federal program, and to pay for costs that federal funds do not cover.

Mississippi Insights

Mississippi indicated that it is working diligently to maximize federal funding and implement other cost saving methods to reduce the use of state general fund dollars.

Use of Funds

More than a quarter of Mississippi's federal and state/local expenditures are used for adoption and guardianship.^{19,20}

Mississippi Insights

Mississippi indicated that it expects funding for prevention to increase in the coming years due to Family First Prevention Services Act implementation. The state also expects spending on older youth to increase due to the expansion of services and newly created programs for this population.

Over the past decade, Mississippi's estimated child welfare agency spending on out-of-home placements has decreased while the state's estimated child welfare agency spending on preventive services increased.²¹

³ "Served in foster care" refers to the "estimated count of all children who were in the public foster care system during the Federal Fiscal Year (FFY). This number is the sum of two mutually exclusive groups of children: the children who are already in care on the first day of the fiscal year (as of October 1) and the children who enter foster care during the year. ⁴ The survey instrument has been revised over time, so some data are not directly comparable.

To enable comparisons, all dollar amounts from previous years have been inflated to 2024 levels using the gross domestic product deflator (accessed at www.measuringworth.com/uscompare/).

When comparing two or more years, we conducted the analysis only if the state had comparable data in both years.

⁵ "Other" includes child benefits and family income used as offsets, third-party in-kind contributions, and private dollars.

⁶ For SFY 2024, Mississippi was unable to report some categories of child benefits and family income used as offsets, so its "other" and total expenditures may be understated. The total expenditure amount for SFY 2022 is missing because the state was unable to report expenditures for at least one of the major funding streams that year.

⁸ For this survey, states were asked to report their child welfare agency's(ies') total federal Title IV-B expenditures for child welfare services/activities. They were told to exclude any Title IV-B dollars expended by non-profits, courts, or other entities in the state unless the funds flowed through the state/local child welfare agency to the outside entity and were spent on child welfare services/activities. Thus, because some Title IV-B dollars may have gone directly to, and been spent by, these outside entities, the total reported here may not represent the state's total Title IV-B expenditures.

⁹ For the survey, researchers asked states to report only Medicaid funds that covered costs borne by the child welfare agency and/or for which the child welfare agency paid the nonfederal match. It excludes Medicaid-funded costs for the child welfare population borne by any other agencies (e.g., the health department) unless the child welfare agency paid the nonfederal match and so excludes costs associated with healthcare coverage. It should be acknowledged, therefore, that this understates (by a significant, yet indeterminate, amount) the degree to which Medicaid supports children involved with the child welfare system and child welfare activities overall in the United States. Additional Medicaid funds may be used by the state health department to provide healthcare to children involved in child welfare, the majority of whom are eligible for Medicaid.

¹⁰ These amounts include funds transferred from TANF to SSBG.

¹¹ CAPTA provides formula grants to states to improve child protective services. It also provides funding aimed at child maltreatment prevention, assessment, and treatment.

¹² CBCAP, which is a part of CAPTA, provides formula grants to states for child abuse prevention work carried out by community-based organizations.

¹³ The Children's Justice Act provides formula grants to eligible states from the national Crime Victims Fund to support improvements in investigating and prosecuting child maltreatment cases.

¹⁴ The Adoption Opportunities program provides competitive grants to states and other entities to promote adoption, remove barriers to adoption, provide post-adoption support to families, and provide other related activities.

¹⁵ Adoption and Legal Guardianship Incentive Payments provide incentive payments to states to encourage more adoptions and legal guardianships from foster care. Incentive payments are provided when a state improves its rate of adoptions and guardianships (in general and for older children).

¹⁶ MIECHV provides formula funds and competitive grants to fund home visiting programs to help improve outcomes for at-risk children. Some home visiting models can help reduce child abuse and neglect and promote the healthy development of children.

¹⁷ FFTA was signed in 2019 to help states during the early implementation of the Family First Act. The law provides $500 million in one-time funding that could be spent by states (1) on any allowable Title IV-B activities, (2) to support implementation of the Family First Prevention Services Act, and (3) for former Title IV-E waiver states on activities formerly approved under their waiver.

¹⁸ Coronavirus State and Local Fiscal Recovery Funds are funds available to state, local, territorial, and Tribal governments through the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) of 2021.

¹⁹ Most states, including Mississippi, were able to provide only approximations for how their funds were spent. Totals may not equal 100% due to rounding.

²⁰ Most states, including Mississippi, were able to provide only approximations for how their funds were spent. Totals may not equal 100% due to rounding.

²¹ The amounts for SFY 2016 are missing because the state was unable to report how they used state funds that year.
